Application for an End-of-Study Internship in Full Stack Development

Dear Mr Mohamed Ben Massouda

I am currently a third-year student pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science and Multimedia at the Higher Institute of Information and Communication Technologies of Sousse (ISITCom – Tunisia). I am seeking an end-of-study internship that would allow me to apply the knowledge and skills I have acquired throughout my academic journey.

Indeed, thanks to the various internships I have completed as well as my academic training, I have developed strong skills in programming, particularly in C, JavaScript, and Python, as well as a solid understanding of databases. Having held the position of a web development intern, I have also cultivated personal qualities such as proactivity, autonomy, the ability to take initiative, strong problem-solving skills, and the capacity to quickly learn new tools, frameworks, and technologies. These qualities make me a dedicated and motivated candidate for your organization.

Joining your team would be an opportunity for me to benefit from your expertise in the field, strengthen my skills, and put my knowledge into practice.

I remain at your disposal for an interview at your convenience and kindly ask you to accept, Mr. Mohamed Ben Massouda, the expression of my highest regards.
